

Communications Committee Stand Down

Purpose:

The Communications Committee has decided to stand down with board approval.

Background:

There is new office staff that will be handling most aspects of communication in Lake Holiday Country Club. Judy Schumer will be updating and redesigning the website. She will also be advertising community events and sending out email blasts as well as posting flyers. She is also streaming the board meetings for the community.

Technology projects will be added to Master Planning Committee's agenda and the former chair of the committee will join MPC and will remain an advisor to the office and the board.

Last year, the board added funds into the 2022 budget to hire technology support for specific projects. The board approved additional cabling to be added to the clubhouse. New microphones to be used during board meetings have been purchased and installed. Other projects are in the works.

Summary:

The committee of two members, the board liaison, and the board president and vice president met and concluded dissolution was the best course of action.

Recommendation and Motion:

Approve the dissolution of the Communications Committee.
